Dear participants,

You received an invitation e-mail for the Conference "Move out the Shadow! Seize the OpportunITy!" of 6th March 2008 in Brussels.

This e-mail is a standard e-mail generated by our data base and sent directly to the participants.

Documents were attached to this e-mail.

- Concerning the document "Application for reimbursement" : you have to print it, to fill it, to sign it and to give it to me the day of the meeting. I will also make a photocopy of your transport flight/train tickets. It is important to constitute the file for the reimbursement of your expenses.

- Concerning the document "Expert identification sheet" : it doesn't need to be filled in again. You have already done it a few days or weeks ago when I asked it to you.

Hope it is clear !

Have a nice travel and see you all on Thursday !

Regards,

Catherine

Dear Dr. Kamberidou,

I am writing to You in connection with the EU Conference on the 6th of March where I learned that we will be both participating.

As Coordinator of the International Taskforce on Women and ICTs (ITF) in Europe, I would hereby like to inform You that during the afternoon session in Workshop 3: Spread the message at national, European and international level Claudia Morrell, the Chair of the International taskforce on Women and ICTs will be informing about the Bold Strategy for setting up of a Global hub and Ten Regional Centers and I will inform about our plans for starting the European Center for Women and Technology.

The day after, on the 7th of March, the International Taskforce for Women and ICTs (ITF) will host the 1st Multistakeholder-Meeting for setting up the European Center for Women and Technology that can connect to a Global Framework of like Centers to amplify the impact of the collective intelligence around the world on behalf of women and girls in the four key focus areas:

- education ✓
- workforce
- entrepreneurship and
- leadership

Participation at this meeting is by invitation. The meeting is sponsored by the Information Society and Media Directorate General of the European Commission and will take place on the 7th of March 2008, between 09:00 a.m. and 03:00 p.m. in the DG INFSO's Building BU5 - Avenue de Beaulieu 5 - 1160 Bruxelles - Meeting room 0A (groundfloor).

Dr. Kamberidou,

I am enclosing some of the key documents about the planned activities. I would like to inform You that the meeting on the 7th is primarily for representatives of the business community and public stakeholders planning to support the activities of the European Center. It would be, however a great honour for us, if You could join us for this meeting and also if we thereafter could get you more actively involved in the work of the European Center.

So please find enclosed also our invitation for the 7th of March!

Looking very much forward to learning to know You in Brussels!

Kind regards,

Eva Fabry
Coordinator ITF-Europe
Member of the SC of the International Taskforce on Women and ICTs (ITF)
Mmember of the Scientific and Political Board of WINNET Europe
European Affairs Manager Papirbredden Innovasjon, Norway

Dear Dr. Irene Kamberidou

→ Thank you for your recent participation in presentations of the European Centre for Women and Technology in Brussels the 4-7th of March. In order to move forward with the International Taskforce for Women & ICTs (ITF) in Europe we thought it appropriate to clarify our expectations and confirm your involvement.

Background

The International Taskforce on Women and ICTs (the Taskforce) was initiated in year 2005 by Claudia Morrell, Executive Director of CWIT, UMBC, underpinned by a Declaration of Agreement with Guiding Principles that serve as the foundation for the organization (<http://www.umbc.edu/cwit/Declaration.html> and enclosed). The Taskforce was established to promote communication and information exchange; increased sharing of research, knowledge, and resources; development of collaborative activities; policies and programming that support women's participation and leadership in all areas of ICT for development. The goal is to ensure that the participation of women in engineering, education, and employment in ICT is globally measurably and significantly increased within five years.

The ITF has managed through the Leadership Meetings organized in 2005 in Baltimore¹, in Paris in 2006² in Kuala Lumpur³ in 2007 to mobilize around 100 key multi-stakeholders from all over the world and energize high-level decision makers of the UN, UNESCO, the European Commission, the World Bank, the Inter American Development Bank, major multinational companies as HP, Texas Instruments, Cisco, Microsoft, IBM, AT & T and Dell as well as regional public key actors, companies, universities, research institutes, regional and global NGOs from all continents to support a new 'Bold Global Multi-Stakeholder Strategy and Action-plan to bring about a major break-through in regard to women's participation in the knowledge-based economy'. The Taskforce represents a broad community of expertise and has been recognized by the United Nations Global Alliance for ICT for Development (UNGAID) as such.

As a result of the Leadership Meetings and consultations carried out in Baltimore, Paris and Kuala Lumpur a broad consensus has emerged that there is a need to continue the global, inclusive, transparent, multi-stakeholder dialog focused on bringing about a major break-through in the field of women's participation in the knowledge-based economy.

Setting up of a global hub 'Global Women and Technology' and Ten Regional Centers based on a global framework for bringing about major changes and achieving considerable impact was seen by most participants as the optimal approach.

The meeting organized by the ITF and Paperbank Innovation, Norway on the 7th of March 2008 in Brussels was the 1st Multi-stakeholder Partnership Meeting to establish a European Centre for Women and Technology that can connect to the Global Framework of like Centres to amplify the impact of the collective intelligence around the world on behalf of women and girls in four key focus areas: education, workforce, entrepreneurship and leadership.

¹ At the International Symposium in Baltimore 12-15th of June 2005 two hundred and fifty participants representing six continents and 28 developing and developed countries, including leaders from business, government, non-government agencies, and education participated.

² The UNESCO Task force Conference 'Re-Engineering Development: Engendering ICTs' held in Paris 12-15th of November 2006 agreed on formalizing the International Task Force (ITF) for Women.

³ The Leadership Meeting of the ITF in Kuala Lumpur 9-10th of December 2007 approved the Bold Global Multi-Stakeholder Strategy and Action-plan to bring about a major breakthrough in regard to women's participation in the knowledge-based economy and setting up of the Global hub 'Global Women and Technology and Ten Regional Centres.'

Invitation

In line with our meeting on the 7th of March, as a first step towards setting up of the European Centre, we would like to create a working group that will lead the process. As we have immediately after the presentations of the European Centre in Brussels the 4th, the 6th and the 7th of March received concrete high-level interest for collaboration and are invited to tender in the near future, it is of utmost importance for us to have a committed core group to follow up on these expressions of interest, present our vision and strategy and a concrete activity and business plan and to that that NOW!

This letter is a formal request for your participation in the working group of ITF - Europe from date of receipt through December 2010.

As a member of the ITF - Europe working group, you will be provided the following benefits:

- ✓ A lead role in the future national Multi-Stakeholder Partnerships (MSPs) for promoting Women and Technology in your country in collaboration with the European Centre for Women and Technology
- ✓ Authority to speak on behalf of the Taskforce at national and international venues.
- ✓ Authority to raise funding on behalf of the Taskforce and in partnership with the Secretariat to achieve Taskforce goals.
- ✓ The opportunity to benefit from funding raised to travel and participate in programs on behalf of the Taskforce.

As a member of the ITF - Europe working group, you will have the following responsibilities:

- ✓ Take a lead role in the future national Multi-Stakeholder Partnerships (MSPs) for promoting Women and Technology in your country in collaboration with the European Centre for Women and Technology
- ✓ Participate in a conference call every other week, one hour max on key issues related to setting up of the European Centre for Women and Technology
- ✓ Comment on the key documents circulated;
- ✓ Partner for EU and other bid-mapping analysis;
- ✓ Participate in two annual meetings per year.

Your input is very valuable, and we fully welcome all your contributions. However, please note that the working group is purely advisory and action-oriented. There will be no legal or financial implications in agreeing to serve and there is no compensation for this position.

We feel that your support will make an important contribution in addressing the needs of girls and women in ICTs and related fields in Europe and globally and hope you can help us realize our goals. If you choose to accept, please sign the attached page and return it to ITF – Europe Secretariat: Papirbredden Innovasjon, Grønland 58, N-3045 Drammen, Norway.

Sincerely,

Eva Fabry
Coordinator ITF-Europe
European Affairs Manager
Papirbredden Innovasjon, Norway

Marina Larios
President, WITEC

Hi All,

In Brussels last month we agreed to move ahead in a collaborative way to set up the European Centre for Women and Technology. ✓

As the first important step towards this goal we are now constituting our International Taskforce for Women and ICTs (ITF) in Europe! ✓

You have in separate mails received your personal invitation to participate. All of You are identified as a key resource!

As we have to follow up on expressions of interest and get prepared for tenders, let us from NOW move ahead as a committed core leadership team to present our vision and strategy and a concrete activity and business plan.

More information and a draft TO-DO list for our first meeting coming during soon!

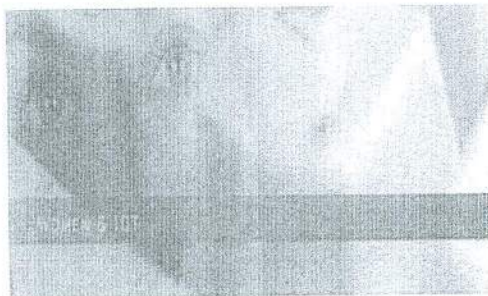

Best regards,

Eva Fabry, Coordinator ITF-Europe & Marina Larios, President WITEC

PRESS RELEASE

A NEW EUROPEAN CENTRE FOR WOMEN AND TECHNOLOGY OPENS THE WAY TO LINK GLOBAL ICT INITIATIVES

The new centre will boost European technology workforce, leadership, education and entrepreneurship

Drammen, 17-19 July 2008. During the meeting of the representatives of the International Taskforce on Women and Information and Communication Technology (ITF) and its European grouping, ITF-Europe, the European members have formally approved and signed the Statutes of the European Centre for Women and Technology, thus creating a new force to boost the role and place of women in defining the direction of technological change in the European Community, and globally.

"Getting more women into ICT careers would be a force for change and a major boost for this key economic sector in Europe" (Viviane Reding, EU Commissioner for Information Society and Media Directorate)

The European Centre for Women and Technology will function as a sustainable European multi-stakeholder organisation, linking, promoting and consolidating initiatives and efforts designed to enhance women's role, place and contribution to a knowledge-based society and innovation-based economy.

The creating of the European Centre kicks-off the formation of a hub of 10 regional such centres across the globe, to provide a framework for bringing together top-level expertise and experience to promote women's full participation in driving economic growth and a more effective response of technological change to societal needs.

A High-level Advisory Committee, led by Dr Rosalie Zobel, former Director of the Directorate for Components and Systems of the Commissions DG Information Society and Media will guide the strategic goals of the European Centre for Women and Technology, the delivery of its Action Plan, and its role in the International Taskforce of Women and ICTs.

Ms. Claudia Morrell, Chair of the ITF said, "For the world to address the global challenges we now all face, we must ensure our best and brightest minds are engaged in finding innovative solutions, and that includes women. I'm delighted that the Europeans have provided the needed leadership to establish the first of the ten Regional Centres that will actively work to implement concrete solutions to ensure women and men are fully engaged in the knowledge society for their own benefit, as well as the benefit of us all."

Notes to Editors

Background information about the European Centre

In Europe the plans for setting-up of a European Centre were launched the 4-7th of March 2008 in Brussels through a series of activities:

- A high-level meeting on the 4th of March of the e-skills Industry Leadership Board, led by the Vice President of the European Commission, Mr. Günther Verheugen, where Hewlett Packard Company, major supporter of the work of the ITF, was represented by Mrs. Gabriela Zedlmayer, VP of Corporate Affairs;
- The EU conference on 6th March, hosted by Mrs. Viviane Reding, European Commissioner for the Information Society and Media, where the importance of designing a common policy framework for gender awareness at EU level was urged through DG INFSO's recent study on Women and ICTs;
 - 1st Multi-Stakeholder Partnership meeting on 7th March, organised by ITF and sponsored by the European Commission DG Information Society and Media.
- In April 2008, 17 key European stakeholders joined to create the International Taskforce for Women and ICTs in Europe (ITF-Europe)
- ITF-Europe decided on 9th May to start the formal proceedings of creating the ECWT.
- The official launch of the European Centre will take place in 2009.

Dear Ms. Kamperidis,

We are contacting you on behalf of Nancy Pascall, DG INFSO, and Directorate G: Components and Systems.

We are pleased to invite you to participate to the 17th Global Forum that will take place on Tuesday 21st & Wednesday 22nd of October 2008 at Zappeion Palace in Athens, Greece.

We are organizing this event in cooperation with the Foundation Sophia-Antipolis, the Hellenic Ministry of Economy and Finance, Special Secretariat for Digital Planning and the City of Athens,

This 17th edition is entitled:

The Global Forum 2008 / Shaping the Future

COLLABORATIVE CONVERGENCE

Users Empowerment in the Global Digital Economy

As a high-profile international Think tank, the Global Forum since 1992 brings together industry leaders, senior policy makers from national, regional and local governments, civil society leaders, researchers and academic specialists. Each year, the Global Forum welcome more than 300 distinguished delegates from more than 35 countries around the world.

Today, the Global Forum is much more than an ICT conference; it has become a significant event on the Fall calendar of key experts in government, industry and civil society.

We will probably have a session on the issue of Women in ICT. You could contribute and participate in this session.

We have already the agreement of a number of high profile participants such as Chairman Kevin Martin from the Federal Communications Commission, Commissioner Thomas Rosch from the Federal Trade Commission...

Please find enclosed the evolving program and the presentation of the Global Forum in Athens.

We are looking forward to welcoming you to Global Forum 2008. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact us for any further information you may require.

Best regards

Dr. Sylviane Toporkoff

Dear Irene,

The information You sent about the Global Forum in Athens and your involvement there looks really highly interesting and personally I do support that You represent our newly formed European Centre for Women and Technology at this meeting. Indeed it's great that they have a special seminar about Women and ICT in a Digital World and that you will be involved in delivering a speech. ✓

Naturally Global Forum is very welcome to join and as soon as we open for registrations let's come back to this!

I am fully aware that Greece is an important gateway to the Balkans as well as the Middle East and that Greece is a very respected and very active member of the EU. For that reason I do think that You can really fill the role of an ambassador in building contacts with many countries in the area of women and technology and related sectors! ✓

So this is just excellent Irene!

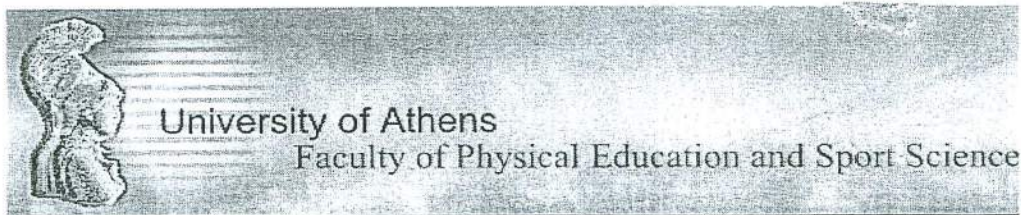

Thanks!

Best,

Eva

INTERVIEWS WITH OUR MEMBERS

of the University of Athens, Greece

Henrike Paetz
Director Research Dissemination
SAP Research
SAP AG

SAP is the first corporate company to sign a corporate financing agreement with the ECWT. 'What do you see as the added value of starting collaboration with the European Centre for Women and Technology?'

'SAP strongly acknowledges the fact that we have to increase the participation of women in the IT industry.'

In our quest to significantly raise the number of female employees educated and interested in technology and support their careers we welcome the opportunity to join the European Centre for Women and Technology as it provides us with a comprehensive network and platform to exchange ideas and initiatives across borders and increase our efforts in the area of education, talent management and research.'

Alexa Joyce
Senior Communications
& Business Development
Manager, European Schoolnet

In the first European e-Skills Week, the European Centre for Women and Technology (ECWT) was a subcontractor for the consortium coordinated by European Schoolnet and DIGITALEUROPE. 'How do you see ECWT's participation in EU activities as well as in safeguarding the gender dimension of the e-skills Week?'

ECWT is always extremely active at EU level in many ways, for instance through providing key services like the European Directory of Women in ICT in Europe, and in better networking women in the ICT sector.

ECWT also has excellent connections to the political world in Brussels, and does great work in ensuring attention is paid to the gender issue in ICT in policy and resulting financing from European level.

As for e-Skills Week, ECWT played a dual role: first of all, ECWT made sure the gender issue was raised throughout the campaign, and got very good participation from ICT women in events. The second role was to manage national contact points for e-Skills Week in Portugal and France, organising events, prizes, meetings and media coverage.

INTERVIEWS WITH OUR MEMBERS

Dr. Petra Püchner
Managing Director Steinbeis
Europa Zentrum, Stuttgart

Steinbeis Europa Zentrum (SEZ)— that has recently celebrated its 20th anniversary— is one of the founding members of the ECWT. What would you say is the added value of a European Centre as it is now taking shape?

We have a situation in Europe, where the different regions and countries - due to different traditions and cultures - show a mixture of and high variation in the involvement of women in technology. Germany has developed a lot of different measures - but in the statistics Germany is still lagging behind other EU countries. On the other hand, we find countries with high presentation of women with university studies in technology subjects, but when it comes to leadership in academia or industry, there is a gap. There is a need to create a full picture in all related fields of involvement for women in technology. ECWT can not only collect the various measures and outcomes, but can support the exchange and deliver mutual learning environments for policy, industry and research.

Dr. Luis Fernández
Member of the Executive Board of ATI, the Spanish member of CEPIS

ATI is the Spanish member of the Council of Professional Informatics Societies (CEPIS) with around 3500 members. ATI has recently applied to become the Spanish National Point of Contact (N-POC) of ECWT. What motivated you to apply for this position and what work needs to be done in Spain to get more girls and women into the ICT sector?

As the main IT professionals association in Spain, we develop different lines of action referred to the analysis of IT profession. Both studies and feedback from experts confirmed that there is a clear female underrepresentation among IT professionals and particularly in students enrolled in IT university degrees. Although this situation is similar to other European and non-European countries, we do not perceive a wide and consistent effort in companies, authorities, associations or any institutions to analyze this in a more detailed way and, consequently, there is no common point of coordination for possible actions.

We sincerely think that our independent position would offer leadership and attract support of the different stakeholders involved. Moreover, direct information from our female members would also help to understand possible barriers for increasing female presence in IT professions and also in creating more attraction for women to take advantage of IT as personal and professional users.

EDUCATION

Ten years of EU experience in analysing the situation regarding the field of women in science

Prague, the 14-15th of May 2009

No true modernisation of universities and research institutions can take place if the social relationships governing these remain based on and ruled by stereotypes, i.e. if excellence is biased or if innovativeness is not promoted through «diverse thinking». Gender-bias is often the source of the more-ingrained stereotypes: tackling it in the management of universities and research institutions could provide the basis for radical change in other fields. Because the majority of gender-based stereotypes are already acquired at school, discussion on possible measures should start on the school level through the identification and elimination of old-fashioned regulations, teaching methods and teaching materials.

Ten years of EU experience in analysing the situation regarding the field of women in science has demonstrated that the direct commitment of institutions is essential in attracting and keeping women, and men, in science.

The conference will offer the opportunity to highlight best practices, adopted in EU and third country institutions; to discuss these issues and identify which measures could be promoted in the future.

The conference is structured with plenary sessions in the mornings of 14 and 15 May and three parallel sessions in the afternoon of 14 May.

Parallel Session 1:

«How to attract young people into research?» looks at measures on the school level, both primary and secondary.

Parallel Sessions 2 & 3:

«How to change organisations and the working environment?» will cover the same topic but with some variations.

The European Centre for Women and Technology (ECWT) started in 2008 is a European multi-stakeholder partnership representing high-level expertise in women and technology development from government, business, academia and the non-profit sector functioning as the key European knowledge hub and enabler for getting more girls and women into the knowledge based economy. The ECWT leads also the global collaboration between Ten Regional Centres under start-up around the world, which together constitute Global Women and Technology (GWT), an initiative of the International Taskforce for Women and ICTs (ITF), recognized by UN GAID as a Community of Expertise.

The European partnership led by the Norwegian regional innovation centre Papirbredden Innovasjon functioning as the Secretariat of the ECWT is the co-ordinator of the team setting up the European Directory for Women and ICT that will be launched by Madame Vivian Reding, Commissioner for Information Society and Media the 8th of October 2009 in Brussels in the workshop 'More women, better jobs and boosting growth'.

The ECWT hereby cordially invites you to celebrate the launch of the directory at the evening of the official start-up. Come and join us and get to know representatives of the multi-stakeholder partnership of the ECWT, who are committed to bring about the change necessary to measurably and significantly increase the number of girls and women in the knowledge based economy in Europe!

Subject: Invitation to the 2nd AGM of the ECWTFrom: "Eva Fabry" <eva.fabry@womenandtechnology.eu>Date: Fri, January 29, 2010 12:48To: "Alexa Joyce" <alexa.joyce@eun.org> (more)Priority: HighMailer: DeskNow 3.1.12Create Filter: Automatically | From | To | SubjectOptions: View Full Header | View Printable Version | Download this as a file | View Message details | Add to Address BookDear ECWT Members!

This year we would really like to see all of you in Brussels the 5th and 6th of March!

We will hold our 2nd Annual General Meeting on the 6th of March !

It is only half year after the previous AGM, however a lot has happened during this period and we have a lot of information to share and key issues to decide in close collaboration with all of you!

Please find enclosed the invitation.

This years AGM will be at Hotel Lalain, 2-4, Rue Royale, from 9:00 to 11:30, rounded off by a lunch at Restaurant Le Ravenstein.

Both buildings are historic localities in an enchanting environment and we hope to compensate you thereby for devoting your precious Saturday to this meeting which we feel is of utmost importance for the future of the ECWT!

Several of our members organizations and National Point of Contacts under start-up are deeply involved in this years large European campaign which aims to raise awareness of the growing demand of highly skilled ICT practitioners and users within the industry.

We therefore hope that you will attend already the 5th of March 'Go digITal' - the closing event of the e-Skills Week 2010.

Here you will be able to meet many key stakeholders, decision makers and professionals in ICT, e-Skills Week Ambassadors and many outstanding young talented girls!

The event will present and reward the best practices observed during the e-Skills Week campaign and formulate recommendations to ensure sustainability of the e-Skills Week action.
Five parallel workshops will provide the audience with experienced testimonies from high level speakers, an exhibition area will give a practical view of the IT jobs.
An award ceremony will reward the students participating in e-Skills Week competition.
This is a full day program from 09:00 to 19:00 and thereafter an evening party will close the event in celebrating technologies.

Register on-line by clicking on the link and for more information do check the e-Skills Week 2010 website: <http://eskills-week.ec.europa.eu> and European Directory

Thanks to the generous offer of our member Alexa Joyce and European Schoolnet (together with DIGITALEUROPE) key responsible organizers of the e-Skills Week 2010, we will have an own ECWT booth at the event ? a unique opportunity to make your organization visible and to present your activities.

The booths are either 6 or 12 sq.m. and we need your immediate feed-back if you are interested to use this facility so that we know how big booth to book!

Welcome to Brussels and two exciting days for networking and decision making about issues affecting our collaborative work for getting more girls and women into ICT !
Please observe that due to the high-priority of the locality we need to have your

Registration for the AGM: by e-mail to: info@womenandtechnology.eu latest the 5th of February

Dear Eva,

Great!

Would there be any possibility to mention e-Skills Week in your presentation?

I will also contact Nancy to see if we can distribute e-Skills materials and so on there.

All the best,
Alexa

Dear All,

Besides the e-skills Week events in March and our AGM, Nancy Pascall is working on preparing his year Shadowing which will take place 7-9th of March on Cyprus.

We are invited to present the ECWT and the European Directory.

I would like to propose that we ask Irene Kamberidou to represent us! Irene is also a member of the EUD team and I'm sure she can do a great job. The dat is OK for Irene.

Please confirm if this is OK with you all!

Thanks,

Eva

IT Girls :: Women in ICT Conference

Women in ICT

Conference "Women in ICT: The Way Forward"
8-9 March 2010, Cyprus

The International Women Day (8th of March), once again provided the European Commission with an occasion to address the role of women in the ICT sector. However, this year, substantive changes have been introduced to the formula of the event, starting from the location: Cyprus. The intention was to move the discussion to Member States which have only recently joined the European Union adventure, exactly where women's potential is particularly untapped and where fresh ideas could bloom. This year the debate on women and ICT was embedded in a broader initiative encompassing other ICT related issues. The event comprised workshops targeting women willing to set up consortia and submit proposals for future calls.

For this purpose, four workshops have been designed:

ICT for Inclusion

ICT for learning, content and digital preservation

ICT for components and systems (cognitive systems, robotics)

International cooperation

A second part of the event tackled the issue of eskills and looked at innovative solutions to transfer knowledge and skills.

Furthermore, the agenda gave the floor to the usual look to the past activities, which offered valuable insights on achievements, new goals and needed actions.

Συνέδριο για τη Γυναίκα στην Πληροφορική

Η ΔΙΕΥΘΥΝΣΗ της Ευρωπαϊκής Επιτροπής - Κοινωνία της Πληροφορίας και Μέσων (European Commission - Information Society and Media), διοργάνωσε σε συνεργασία με τον Κυπριακό Σύνδεσμο Πληροφορικής (Cyprus Computer Society) το συνέδριο με τίτλο «WOMEN in ICT - The Way Forward», που πραγματοποιήθηκε στις 8 και 9 Μαρτίου 2010, στο ξενοδοχείο Hilton στη Λευκωσία. Το συνέδριο διοργανώθηκε στα πλαίσια των εορτασμών για τη διεθνή Ημέρα της Γυναί-κας (8 Μαρτίου) και, λαμβάνοντας υπόψη τη χαμηλή συμμετοχή της Κύπρου σε ευρωπαϊκά και συγχρηματοδοτούμενα προγράμματα, είχε ως στόχο την ευαισθητοποίηση των Κυπρίων και ειδικότερα των γυναικών.

Το συνέδριο τοποθέτησε το ζήτημα των γυναικών στην Πληροφορική και στην Τεχνολογία σε ένα ευρύτερο πλαίσιο για την Κοινωνία της Πληροφορίας δίνοντας έμφαση στη συμμετοχή σε ευρωπαϊκά έργα.

Conference: Women in ICT: The Way Forward,
9 Μαρτίου 2010, Λευκωσία

Subject: Invitation for Dr. Irene Kamberidou, Assistant Professor, University of Athens and Member of the Board of the Greek N-PoC of the ECWT to participate in the exhibition and networking session the ECWT is organizing at ICT 2010, the 27-29th of September 2010 in Brussels at Brussels Expo

Between the 27 and 29th of September the European Commission is organizing its biannual flagship event in Brussels. At this event the European Centre for Women and Technology will present the the European Directory for Women and ICT (ECWT), a web-based platform supported and launched by the Commission the 8th of October 2009 and functioning as the Meeting-place for Women in ICT in Europe. ECWT will on the 28th of September organize also a networking session under the heading 'e-Gen – Women on board in ICT, technology and innovation'. Finally the day after, on the 29th of September ECWT will organize a meeting hosted by DG INFSO to discuss coordinating of the work of the National Point of Contacts of the ECWT that are being set-up all around Europe.

Dr. Kamberidou has played a key and prominent role in developing the European Directory and she is one of the best ambassadrices for the ECWT and an initiator of setting up the Greek National Point of Contact of the ECWT.

In view of the above we would hereby like to invite Dr. Irene Kamberidou to participate in the events in Brussels the 27 – 29 September 2011. Travel and accommodation expenses and registration costs to ICT 2010 will be covered by the European Directory project, which is lead by Papirbredden Innovasjon functioning as the Secretariat if the ECWT,

Please do not hesitate to contact me for any additional information.

Drammen, 2010-07-28

Yours sincerely

Dear Dr. Kamberidou,

On behalf of our project consortium in charge for the implementation of the European co-funded project 'gender-IT: Fostering gender mainstreaming in the ICT sector', I would like to officially invite you to be the Conference Moderator in the forthcoming conference entitled 'Women Choosing ICT Careers: From policy to practice'.

Our project is a two-year initiative co-funded by the European Union's Lifelong Learning Programme, under the Leonardo da Vinci Action and is being successfully implemented by seven partners from Cyprus, Estonia, Greece, Spain, Sweden and the UK (<http://www.gender-it.eu>, where you can see the ECWT and EUD logos figuring at the homepage, through successful liaison with Ms. Eva Fabry).

The main aim of our project as well as conference is to contribute to innovative and attractive VET practices in the ICT sector in order to cover the existing gender gap with women accounting for less than 20% of computer systems designers, analysts and programmers in the EU27.

Should you wish to accept our invitation to be the main, and only, Conference Moderator, I kindly ask you to provide me with the following info that could be posted on our website and included in the delegate's material:

— Name (to ensure there are no mistakes)

Dear Conference Speakers,

On behalf of the gender-IT transnational consortium and the Conference Organiser (Militos Emerging Technologies & Services), I would like to sincerely thank you for participating as key speakers in the European Focus Conference "Women Choosing ICT Careers: Influencing Policy from Practice" held on October 26th, in Athens.

It was a great honor to have you all in our panel and share with our conference audience your knowledge, opinions, ideas and suggestions on how to encourage more women and girls to take up ICT as a career. Our conference succeeded in attracting significant stakeholders and raising awareness on the need to act in a coordinated and committed way in order to achieve our common goal. Just for the record, the conference aimed for 70 participants (focus conference); we received more than 100 registrations; and, the final number of participants recorded is 82 (attended).

Let me take this opportunity, to extend my gratitude to Dr. Irene Kamberidou for her utmost valuable coordination, before, during and after the conference. She kindly accepted our invitation to moderate the conference and upgrade our entire event with her constructive interventions in the programme. She was also kind enough to prepare the conference conclusions/recommendations (see attached).

Soon, detailed conference material will be uploaded on the project website at <http://www.gender-it.eu/> including your presentations. Moreover, the next and final project e-Newsletter will be circulated, throughout Europe, to over 15.000 targeted contacts and will include information on the conference and its results.

If you wish to keep in touch with Militos and the gender-IT project consortium, you may become a member of the gender IT Network by simply replying YES to this email. This way, we will keep you posted, by email notifications, on our activities, next steps and ideas that further empower women's position in the ICT sector and generally in every business sector.

We are committed and determined to continue supporting such pro-actions and we hope we keep good contact with all of you! We thank you again and we hope to meet you again soon!

Kind regards,
Olga Stavropoulou

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT ICIE'10

Started in Athens, as one activity of the ESTIA-Net Thematic Network, it is established as an annual event. The 5th International Conference on Interdisciplinarity in Education ICIE'10 continues the initiative of dissemination of innovations that improve the Engineering-Computers-Science higher education. ICIE is a major annual international conference devoted to improvements in education. It is an ideal forum for sharing ideas, learning about new developments in education, and interacting with colleagues worldwide.

Engineering, computers and science education faces significant challenges in crossing international, cultural, and social borders and expands the pool of young students entering higher education and prepare our graduates to be successful in the global economy with diverse groups of people. Successfully addressing these issues will require innovative solutions including use of new pedagogical methods and programmes that improve student learning, partnerships among academia, industry, government, educators and curricular reform. The official site of ICIE is <http://www.estiatn.net>

In May 2010, in the city of Tallinn, the ICIE'10 is especially interested in research articles that address issues related to how higher education can promote the excellence of women in professions of Engineering-Computers-Sciences and recognize the key role to be played by Europe in support of new generation of women scientists.

Dear Ms Martinengo

Thank you for your invitation. I am available as a speaker but would like to have more information. I would like to suggest the following speakers: Dr Eva Fabry - European Centre for Women in ICT (eva.fabry@womenandtechnology.eu), Prof Myriam Diocaretz (m.diocaretz@inter.nl.net) and Dr Irene Kamperidou (ikamper@phed.uoa.gr). All three are experts in the field of women and technology and are working at different levels to encourage female participation in ICT.

Considering the deadlines set in order to arrange for travel in the Commission, I would appreciate your sending me more information in good time.

I would also invite you to have a look at our site www.ec.europa.eu/itgirls and in particular our planned Gender Workshop set for 8 October in Brussels. I would appreciate your diffusing information about this conference in your constituency.

Thank you and have a good day!

For the last five years you have been supporting the efforts of the Commission to increase the number of women in the ICT sector. Your feedback in our workshops and seminars was extremely valuable and we thank you for that. Many important things were achieved! Now, at the end of the current mandate of Commissioner Reding, we are going to take stock of our achievements, launch a new initiative - the Directory of Women in ICT - and look to the future.

You are invited to participate, on 8 October 2009 in a workshop on: More Women, Better Jobs and Boosting Growth.

Commissioner Reding will present the Directory as well as the companies that signed the Code for Best Practices since March 2009⁴. Places in the workshop are limited. Full details including registration and agenda can be found here:

http://ec.europa.eu/information_society/activities/itgirls/gender_workshop09/index_en.htm

We look forward to meeting you on 8 October!

Good Morning,

We are very pleased to invite you to the 18th edition of the Global Forum / Shaping the Future that will take place on Monday 19th & Tuesday 20th October 2009 at the Palace of the Parliament in Bucharest, Romania.

This year the Global Forum is organized by Items International in cooperation with the Foundation Sophia-Antipolis and the Romanian Ministry of Communications & Information Society.

The focus of this 18th edition is:

ICTS & THE FUTURE OF INTERNET

Opportunities for Reshaping & Stimulating the Economy

It is the perfect place for an exchange of views on implementing the Information Society and visions for the future. In the current economic crisis, it will facilitate developments for the Information Society while remaining neutral and independent.

Please find enclosed the latest version of the draft program.

We are looking forward to welcoming you in Bucharest next October and we stay at your disposal for any information you may require.

Subject: Global Forum 2009: ThanksFrom: "SLevy" <slevy@items-int.eu>Date: Thu, October 29, 2009 16:08To: ikamper@phed.uoa.gr (more)Priority: NormalMailer: Microsoft Office Outlook 11Create Filter: Automatically | From | To | SubjectOptions: View Full Header | View Printable Version | Download this as a file | View Message details | Add to Address Book

Dear Irene,

First of all Sylviane Toporkoff, President and Sébastien Lévy, Vice President as well as all the Global Forum/Shaping the Future team in Paris & in Bucharest, want to express our gratitude for your participation and involvement in the Global Forum 2009 that took place last week in Bucharest.

The 18th edition of the Global Forum exceeds all our expectations despite a background of economic crisis. In this troubled period, we chose to organize the Global Forum 2009 in Eastern Europe as the role of the Global Forum is and will always be to emphasize the economic potential of Information and Communication Technology (ICT) to pull the world into growth and in this times into recovery. We built the programme and kept these objectives in mind when we decided the theme of the sessions.

We managed again this year to bring together more than 450 high level representatives from all over the world and different domains to favour exchange and debates among them. We are sure that your attendance allowed you to extend your network for future collaboration and/or partnerships.

The Global Forum gathered political representatives such as the President of Romania Mr. Traian Basescu, the Romanian Minister of Communications and Information Society, Mr. Gabriel Sandu; the Ambassador of the USA Mr. Mark Gitenstein.

We also had the pleasure to have among us high-level companies representatives such as the President of Hewlett-Packard Romania; the President of Romtelecom; the Vice President Multimedia and System Integration of Ericsson South East Europe; The Vice President International Public Policy & Regulatory Affairs of Verizon; The Assistant Vice President Public Policy of AT&T.

The Global Forum 2009 also brought together representatives of national and international organizations and agencies such as the National Authority for Management and Regulation in Communications of

at the European Parliament Office in Athens [8 Amalias street, Athens]

Mr. Dimitris Tsigos [President of the European Confederation of Young Entrepreneurs, YES and President of the Hellenic Association of Young Entrepreneurs, ESYNE],

Ms. Alexia Evert [Vice Mayor of Athens with specialization on Women Entrepreneurship for Immigrants], and

Mrs. Anna Danti [Policy Officer, European Commission, DG Enterprise and Industry, Unit E1 Entrepreneurship, Women Entrepreneurs] have kindly accepted to address the audience and share their knowledge and insight on current status of women entrepreneurship, both at national and European level, with the aim to encourage young female graduates and women from an ethnic background to start up their own business activity.

The Round table discussion will be moderated by Mr. Andreas Stefanidis, General Secretary of the Hellenic Association of Young Entrepreneurs who will open the floor to attendees in order to enhance active participation and ensure constructive and vivid dialogue that could lead to better understanding of the current status of women entrepreneurship.

Good to know !

- The conference language is ENGLISH
- Registration is mandatory: You are kindly asked to contact the Conference Secretariat to confirm your participation at info@millitos.org [T. +30 210 67 72 129 – F. +30 210 67 72 116]

Register Now! Participation is free of charge. The number of registration places is limited and it will be awarded on a first come, first served basis.

Subject: Invitation for Dr. Irene Kamberidou, Assistant Professor, University of Athens and Member of the Board of the Greek N-PoC of the ECWT to participate in the exhibition and networking session the ECWT is organizing at ICT 2010, the 27-29th of September 2010 in Brussels at Brussels Expo

Between the 27 and 29th of September the European Commission is organizing its biannual flagship event in Brussels. At this event the European Centre for Women and Technology will present the the European Directory for Women and ICT (ECWT), a web-based platform supported and launched by the Commission the 8th of October 2009 and functioning as the Meeting-place for Women in ICT in Europe. ECWT will on the 28th of September organize also a networking session under the heading 'e-Gen – Women on board in ICT, technology and innovation'. Finally the day after, on the 29th of September ECWT will organize a meeting hosted by DG INFSO to discuss coordinating of the work of the National Point of Contacts of the ECWT that are being set-up all around Europe.

Dr. Kamberidou has played a key and prominent role in developing the European Directory and she is one of the best ambassadrices for the ECWT and an initiator of setting up the Greek National Point of Contact of the ECWT.

In view of the above we would hereby like to invite Dr. Irene Kamberidou to participate in the events in Brussels the 27 – 29 September 2011. Travel and accommodation expenses and registration costs to ICT 2010 will be covered by the European Directory project, which is lead by Papirbredden Innovasjon functioning as the Secretariat if the ECWT,

Please do not hesitate to contact me for any additional information.

Drammen, 2010-07-28

Yours sincerely

Dear all

Once again we would like to thank you for your participation in the Genset Workshop 'Gender Stereotypes and Gender Attitudes in the Assessment of Women's Work'.

As indicated during the workshop we would like to know a bit more about the impact of the workshop on your work, future plans, etc. Likewise, we would like to have your views on the organisation of the workshop.

We will appreciate it if you were to provide us with your comments/responses/views on a set of issues.

The attached is a template on the issues we need inputs from you.

If you please be so kind to send me your response as soon as possible.

Thank you in advance.

Best wishes

Good morning Nancy,

Women for Smart Growth

Proposed framework for presentations, discussions and the report

Background

The Women for Smart Growth workshop builds on the eight priority areas concerning the improvement of women's position and involvement in ICTs, the Digital Age, and the Digital Agenda, proposed at the conference Women in Science, Engineering and Technology in the Digital Age, Budapest 6-9 March 2011. ✓

✓✓ The background of this workshop is, however, much more far-reaching. It also builds on the series of conferences, events and activities promoting more full engagement of women in ICTs led by the Commission, and, specifically, by the DG Information Society over the last 5 years. Of key impact among in these endeavours have been the DG INFSO's Shadowing Day for Girls scheme and the Code of Best Practices for Women in ICTs. These initiatives won wide recognition, including from the Financial Times, which during the 2009 conference interviewed the girls who participated in the shadowing scheme that year to uncover their relationship with digital technologies and what influenced their career decisions.

✓ The interview with the FT revealed a critical generational, geographical and skills gap that exists in society today with regard to the attitudes towards ICTs and the level of engagement with digital technologies. The principal concern with relation to the aims and aspirations of the Digital Agenda is that whilst young women (and men) have completely embraced ICT innovations as users, they have been increasingly rejecting ICTs oriented careers. This trend has important policy implications with regard to the innovation goals contained within the Digital Agenda, the EU2020 Strategy, and the hopes for new ways of promoting societal and economic development in Europe, linked to R&D, following the recent financial crisis.

The EU 2020 Strategy has multiple horizontal gender aspects, as well as multiple roles and expectations for ICT's to play: as an employment market, as an enabler of innovation, as a source of new innovation ideas, as a tool for taking ideas to markets, and as a driver for cultural change.

To make effective progress towards the Digital Agenda, Europe can draw on a number of already existing strengths, which provide important competitive advantage, for example, its highly educated and trained women (e.g. 52% university graduates); innovation and entrepreneurial cultures; experience and expertise of gender mainstreaming; and women's share of the markets for innovations and products.

Importantly, the growing participation of women in employment, which achieved a 2.1% trend growth in the Eurozone over the last decade, and its consequent impact on economy ('womenomics'), has created new champions of gender equality actions among economics researchers, in places such as Goldman Sachs, Deutsche Bank and World Economic Forum and Harvard Business School. Recent reports have recommended gender equality measures as "possibly the most important action" - better than quantitative easing and other macro policies - that policy makers could take to promote long-term sustainable growth. A study from the Harvard Business School estimated women's global annual consumer spending to be in the region of $ 20-30 trillion.

✓✓ The Women for Smart Growth workshop is therefore very timely and important. It builds on the solid research evidence regarding women and gender issues in ICTs, and in science in general; the European network of women in ICT, created with the support from DG INFSO; and extensive opportunities for collaboration with industry and institutional networks.

3. What effective measures are available/should be developed (name maximum 5)
4. Who are the key players (no limit)
5. What will be the main gains
6. If no action is taken, what will happen

Dear Dr. Irene Kamberidou,

During the Hungarian EU Presidency high priority will be given to increasing the innovative capacity of Europe taking also care of the female talent when implementing the Europe 2020 Strategy and the Digital Agenda.

It is therefore a great pleasure for us, that the European Commission's Information Society and Media Directorate General and the Hungarian EU Presidency are jointly organizing in collaboration with the Hungarian Academy of Sciences and the European Centre for Women and Technology the high-level conference "Women in Science, Innovation and Technology in the Digital Age" on 7th-8th March 2011 at the main building of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences in Budapest.

The conference desires to deliver major input to the planned EU Parliamentary hearing and preparations of a future European Action Plan on the issue.

I have the honour to invite you to participate and we count on your involvement in achieving the goals of this high-level event as the moderator of the conference.

The draft program of the event can be found here: <http://asszisztencia.hu/ntit/index.php?menu=3>

I inform you with pleasure, that the organisers will provide your air ticket and your accommodation for two nights in Budapest. Please submit your registration by January 20. 2011 on <http://www.asszisztencia.hu/ntit/> . I kindly ask you not to make your hotel reservation. Following your registration Ms. Kinga Pálszabó will contact you to arrange your air travel and accommodation issues. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact her (kinga.palszabo@asszisztencia.hu).

For further assistance, please contact my colleague, Ms. Virág Vántora, phone: +36-1-484-2567, e-mail: virag.vantora@nkth.gov.hu.

The organisers of the conference sincerely hope that You have the possibility to accept our invitation and look forward to welcoming You in Budapest in March 2011.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Ms Irene Kamberidou,

I highly appreciate that you accepted our invitation to the conference "Women in Science, Innovation and Technology in the Digital Age", which took place on 7-8th March 2011 in Budapest. Your participation as the moderator has significantly contributed to the success of the event.

I am sure that the outcome of the conference will serve as a good basis drafting a new European Gender Action Plan for the Digital Agenda coordinated by the European Center for Women and Technology and that the results of the conference will foster the economic growth of Europe.

In the name of the organisers let me wish you all the best for your future activities in the field of women in science, innovation and technology.

Dear Irene KAMBERIDOU,

We would like to invite you to attend the first annual Digital Agenda Assembly, to be held in Brussels on 16th and 17th June. The Assembly is a significant milestone in the delivery of the Digital Agenda, Europe's strategy for a flourishing digital economy by 2020. It will:

- assess progress in delivering the Digital Agenda, and seek ways to improve where necessary;
- identify challenges ahead for implementation;
- seek to mobilise stakeholders in carrying the process forward.

Participating in the Assembly will give you the opportunity to meet and discuss with others whose views and actions matter if we are to deliver the benefits of the Digital Agenda for Europe's citizens. You will be among representatives of authorities from Europe and third countries, EU institutions, industry and civil society.

The assembly will comprise two plenary sessions and parallel workshops addressing key topics. The programme is available online at http://ec.europa.eu/information_society/digital-agenda/daa

You are invited to the following workshop:

22. Women for smart growth
17th June 2011, 09.30-13.00

For further details on this workshop, please check http://ec.europa.eu/information_society/events/cf/daa11/item-display.cfm?id=6003

In addition to attendance at the two plenary sessions, and dinner the first evening, you are also invited to attend another workshop of your choice on the other day of the Assembly.

In order to secure your place at the Assembly, please register by 18th April via this link:

http://ec.europa.eu/information_society/r/daa11/1a1ip0131cyq2x1th314hzcw5

Dear Sir/Madam,

Congratulations for being accepted to attend the Digital Agenda Assembly events and thank you for registering for workshop 10, "Addressing demographic change: a socio-economic challenge and opportunity for Europe".

I am writing to inform you that the provisional agenda for the workshop is now available online at : http://ec.europa.eu/information_society/events/cf/daa11/item-display.cfm?id=5991

You can now get more involved in the event by 'Making the Digital Agenda happen'. This is a short video contribution related to Digital Agenda Europe that participants are able publish on the Digital Agenda Assembly website. Top-rated videos are going to be previewed during the Plenary Session of the Digital Agenda Assembly. The deadline for posting videos is the 10th of June. More information and instructions about this can be found at : http://ec.europa.eu/information_society/digital-agenda/daa/video/index_en.htm

Shall you have any further questions please do not hesitate to contact me.

I look forward to meeting you during the workshop.

Kind Regards,

Céline DESWARTE

MONDAY 19 JANUARY

WELCOME

Eva welcomes the Executive Group to the meeting.

- She also informs that Beata has the day before informed her that as she has been elected to take over as the Director of the Hungarian N-PoC NaTe, she has decided to resign from her position in the Executive Group (ExeG).
- Eva proposes that Luis Fernandez will be replacing her who was second runner up in the elections at the AGM in 2014. Eva will meet Luis in the afternoon and thereafter proposes that the Executive follows the coopting procedure in line with the Statutes.

Evita wishes welcome to European Schoolnet, and presents the organization and their work.

Thereafter, Dimitris, who based on a rotating basis is the first out to moderate the ExeG session, presents the meeting agenda and goes over the structure of the two days of meetings.

I. ECWT INTERNAL STRUCTURE

A. HIGH LEVEL ADVISORY (EVA)

The HLA has until now been inactive, in spite of the fact that the HLA is filled with resourceful people. One significant reason for this is that we were unsuccessful in arranging a physical meeting in 2014 for the reasons known to all, despite attempts to do so. The group will be back on track in 2015, starting with a physical meeting in connection with the AGM and the proposed "big bang" event that Eva will present later on.
